

WE NOMINATE

Stringfellow Barr, one of this country's most versatile and stimulating educators and a remarkably gifted literary craftsman, who this month is welcoming his formal retirement from the groves of academe as a series of opportunities for "getting on with my work." A resident of Princeton since 1957, and for a period of nine years ending last Wednesday (July 1) Professor of Humanities at the Newark College of Arts and Sciences of Rutgers University, this 67-year old scholar, teacher and administrator — remembered, if not revered, by many for once calling American college education "The Higher Illiteracy" — will go right on teaching all who will listen through his writing.

As relatively serene as the Princeton Years have been for Barr, with his months given over to writing and research, lecture dates by the dozen, and his classes in Newark, they have been extremely productive and have been highlighted by four major volumes, including the best-selling novel, "Purely Academic," which "quite frankly, I wrote for money." Now on the verge of completing the second volume of what was originally to have been a one-volume study of Graeco-Roman culture, Barr during the next year here, prior to establishing a home-base "somewhere along the Mediterranean," will be carrying forward intensive research for a work rooted in the 20th Century.

It was in the 1930's and 1940's (1937-1946), after he had established his reputation as a European historian at the University of Virginia and had been briefly associated with the ebullient Robert Maynard Hutchins at the University of Chicago, that Barr was catapulted into the limelight as president of St. John's College, Annapolis, Md. He was responsible for the inauguration at historic, then musty St. John's of the eminently controversial Great Books Program, a rub-breaking venture which embraced the abolition of the elective system of studies, placed new stress on mathematics and science for all, and uprooted such campus sideshows as intercollegiate athletics and fraternities.

Active in world government organizations for the past quarter-century and, from 1948 until 1958, president of the Foundation for World Government, Barr has constantly "called for an increased sense of responsibility by the nations and their leaders toward the world's poor, hungry and oppressed." In the era of the "Cold War," it has been his contention, as underscored in two books, "Let's Join the Human Race" and "Citizens of the World," that the "real war should be fought by all nations on a united front, with economic development the primary weapon against the underprivileged status of most of the world's population."

A native of Suffolk, Va., on the western edge of Virginia's Dismal Swamp, Barr whirled through his undergraduate years at the University of Virginia as a high honor student and, following World War I service with the U. S. Army's Ambulance Service, studied as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford. His development as a highly trained historian led from Oxford to the universities of Paris and Ghent and, ultimately, to Charlottesville where he was to edit the staid "Virginia Quarterly Review" and to lay the groundwork for a many-sided career ranging from the origination of the current CBS show, "Invitation to Learning" to the authorship of the well-known "Kitchen Garden Book."

For his decades of dedication to those things in which he believes so deeply; for his achievements as a man of letters — and as an irascible, but wonderfully perceptive, gadfly in the realm of education; he is

"APT. FOR RENT"
Where? "The multiple housing situation" is a polite way of referring to the fact that Princeton doesn't have nearly enough apartments for all the people who need them.

"The situation" will be in the news often in the next few months. Ridgely Cook, of Edmund Cook and Company, is scheduled to give the Township Planning Board a precise breakdown of figures showing what kinds of people want apartments, where they came from and what kinds of work they do.

The Princeton Real Estate Group, through its representative, Mrs. Lawrence Norris Kerr, has already appeared before the Borough Planning Board asking for a study of the apartment situation as part of the Borough's Master Plan. Mrs. Kerr will undoubtedly appear again.

In September, the Township Planning Board will complete its revision of the 1955 Zoning Ordinance and hold a public hearing. The revision has been a general updating. No fundamental changes have been made in the ordinance, which means that the Township's ban on apartments will remain. In the Borough, a builder can only erect an apartment house through so-called "spot zoning," that is, by obtaining a variance, as George Sands' Lillian Realty Company did to build the garden apartments on North Harrison.)

"A Definite Need" "Whether or the town likes it or not," states Mr. Cook, "there is a definite need for a certain kind of apartment."

Mrs. Kerr is even more outspoken: "The community does not show a responsible concern for the people who live and work here. It is absurd that one can't build an apartment in the Township."

During the six-month period spanning May and October of any year, Mr. Cook receives a minimum of eight calls a day for apartments. His office can fill about three a week. Apartments built by his firm over the old Balk restaurant were rented from architect's plans before remodeling had even begun. Any third-floor walk-up is rented the minute it's available.

When it became known a year or two ago that Mrs. Kerr planned a "not inexpensive" apartment on Greenholm, she received 50 applications for the 15 units. All were from Princeton residents. "I wouldn't have taken anyone from out of town," she points out.

Mrs. Kerr's firm still has the Greenholm project on the books, hoping for a favorable Borough Master Plan decision on apartment zoning.

Budget? Middle - Income? Who is it that needs an apartment in Princeton?

TARGET OVERSHOT: Edward S. Bednar of Kendall Park overshot the runway at Princeton Airport Friday, his plane flying into the Kammiller-Bauck showroom on State Road 296. These three pictures show severely damaged craft and twisted metal around its cabin but pilot was released from the hospital two days later. Story, page 3 (Staff Photos)

"We need middle-class apartments for the men who earn $8-$12,000 a year," Mr. Cook believes. "These are the men who come to Princeton to work in research plants or at the University, or to commute to New York."

Out of every ten people who come to the Cook agency for an apartment, "9½ are professional. By 'professional,' Mr. Cook means not only the teacher, doctor or lawyer, but the business executive as well.

"We need apartments for the RCA, ETS and ORC," Mrs. Kerr says. "We need apartments for single girls who are secretaries and for retired elderly couples like former missionaries who want to end their days in the town where they attended seminary."

As it is now, Mrs. Kerr continues, the single men and girls, many of them here for only a year or two, live in rented rooms or in quarters outside Princeton.

Speakeasy Living. "They live in 'bootleg' apartments," Mrs. Kerr explains. "That means rooms with forbidden electric plate and a fridge. Nothing is done about these violations because everybody knows these young people must have a place to live. It's a bad situation for both tenant and landlord."

Because so many must find housing outside Princeton, the apartment shortage contributes to the traffic snarl in Mrs. Kerr's opinion.

A lot of people don't want cars but they've got to have them so they can drive into Princeton to work. If they could live within walking distance, our traffic problem would be eased."

Mrs. Kerr adds to her list the boys who have grown up in Princeton and now want to live here as young married men. "And the married graduate student. The University and Seminary still haven't solved that housing problem."

"I do not favor building the whole town up with apartments," Mrs. Kerr emphasizes "but all these groups I've mentioned have much to contribute to the Princeton community, and help to give it balance. The trouble is, they are not organized so they can't present their case."

Mrs. Kerr would like to see Princeton's official boards ponder the question: "What kinds of people do we need in Princeton, and what can we do to help them, to give the town balance?"

"But our governing bodies are composed of men without concern for low-income people," Mrs. Kerr believes.

That School Population. One of the chief reasons a community shies away from apartments and this has been particularly true of the Township — is that apartments can place a terrifying burden on a school system.

Both Mrs. Kerr and Mr. Cook say this is not the case. The American ideal is to own your own home," Mr. Cook says. "Parents of school-age children aren't interested in an apartment. The requests that come into this office show that about half the people want a one-bedroom apartment and the other half, a two-bedroom apartment, probably using the second bedroom for a study."

In the Millstone Apartments, which Mr. Cook's firm built on the south side of Lake Carnegie in West Windsor, there are only two school-age children in 130 rented apartments. Millstone does not have anything larger than a two-bedroom unit.

"It is a great facility to say that apartments breed school children," states Mr. Kerr. "You control this by the size of the apartment you allow, and by the design of the apartment. For example, our Greenholm apartment would be much too large and expensive for a family with young children."

Where to Build? When Mr. Cook goes before the Township Planning Board in late summer or early fall, he will suggest that apartments be allowed in the engineering zone.

And he is particularly enthusiastic about the strips of land along State Road from Ewing north to the Township's boundary with Montgomery.

Mr. Cook doesn't own any land in this area or in the engineering zone and he is appearing on his own, not as a representative of the Princeton Real Estate Board, although the Board shares his opinions.

"Route 206 is a noisy main artery, heavily traveled and not suited to single-family homes," Mr. Cook says, "but it would be perfect for apartments. Not 'look-alikes' or higher-story buildings, no two alike, made of old brick and clapboard, strung in pleasing courtyard arrangements, perhaps, and designed so that most of the woodland is retained, with parking areas out of sight."

Mr. Cook believes that an apartment building can not only fit its own way into the Township, but contributes beyond that as well. "A one-million-dollar apartment would pay $30,000 a year in taxes, but I can prove that it would cost the Township only $10,000 in municipal services, including schools."

Pay-As-You-Go? Mrs. Kerr also believes that apartments can be a great source of municipal revenue. "A zoning ordinance could regulate strictly the kind of apartment building that could be built, even to the point of requiring that each project have its own individual 'OK.'"

"Regulation should be by the number of bedrooms, not by the number of apartment units in the building. If this point done, a builder will make his units as big as possible with sky-high rents. What we need is a larger number of small apartments."

The kind of apartment building envisioned by Mr. Cook for State Road, and the Greenholm project of Mrs. Kerr's office do not, of course, take care of lower-income families.

"I'm afraid that the unskilled and the uneducated have little chance to rent in Princeton," Mr. Cook admits.

"Rents could be much lower, or if there were competition," Mrs. Kerr believes. "Why build elaborately? Build simple."

pay. But more and more people. Right now, nothing can be much help to the graduate student and his wife who will arrive this September hoping to find an inexpensive apartment right in Princeton. The future, of course, is up for guessing. But Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini says of Mr. Cook's forthcoming appearance before the Planning Board, "It's going to have to do all the talking."

GOAL: $385,265

For United Fund Campaign. A goal of $385,265 has been set for this year's United Fund Red Cross campaign. The amount represents an eight per cent increase over last year's mark.

Max D. Blumenfeld, budget committee chairman, has submitted a detailed report based on three months' work by 38 volunteers in an analysis of member agency budget needs for 1965. The campaign will cover these areas which benefit from agency services: Princeton, Princeton Heights, Hill, Lower South Brunswick, Plainsboro, Cranbury, Lawrence Township, Hopewell, West Windsor, East Windsor, outlying parts of Hopewell and Pennington, and Montgomery Township.

Allocations of funds from this year's campaign are: Princeton Hospital, $50,000; Princeton Red Cross, $41,966; YMCA, $37,432; Family Service Agency, $36,712; YWCA, $35,280; Child Guidance Center, $20,300; Princeton Nursery School, $24,462; UF-RC campaign budget, $19,177, and the Visiting Nurse Association, $19,040.

Also, Boy Scouts, $15,062; Campaign headquarters, $14,327; Hightstown YMCA, $8,752; Mercer Girl Scouts, $8,000; Service for shrinkage, $7,500; Mental Health Association, $7,000; Princeton Homemakers Service, $6,793; Agency account for deferred maintenance, $5,000; Montgomery Township Community Chest, $4,950.

Also, Retarded Children's Association, $3,485; Council of Community Services, $2,536; Children's Home Society of N. J., $2,111; United Service Organization, $2,000; Cerebral Palsy Association, $2,000; Princeton Playground Committee, $1,650; American Social Health Association, $550; National Social Welfare Assembly, $100; and the Council of Social Work Education, $80.

Speaking for the fund's board of trustees, President Robert P. Popino said, "All of us appreciate greatly the hard work and the detailed report by the budget committee. Many thanks also to the Princeton Chapter of the Red Cross for its carefully itemized budget and for its review of the figures as part of the United Fund-Red Cross committee's functions."

PILOT SLIGHTLY HURT

Floor Overshoots Runway. Edward S. Bednar, 39, of 21 Stockton Road, Kendall Park, suffered minor injuries on Friday when the Beech Musketeer he was flying overshot the runway he was approaching at Princeton Airport. The single-engine plane crossed Route 206, shot under two sets of utility wires and hit the side of the Kammler-Buick showroom. (Pictures on Page 1.)

Mr. Bednar, a laboratory technician with the Bell Telephone Company at Murray Hill, sustained lacerations and contusions and a fractured rib in the accident. Taken to Princeton Hospital, he was released 48 hours later. He had been on a training flight to Richmond, Va., and Wilmington, Del., and, as standard training procedure just made two approaches to the Princeton landing strip when the mishap occurred.

Although Mr. Bednar's third approach resulted in the accident, officials at the airport say that his quick reaction in trying to avoid trouble was "good emergency flying." But the tail surfaces of the plane had not hit a fence on the south side of Route 206, he would have probably been able to clear the Kammler building. Wind direction and loss of engine power were not factors in the accident.

And though the plane is adjudged to be a total loss, the cabin of the craft was relatively undamaged because of the Musketeer's sturdy design. It is this that probably saved Mr. Bednar from more serious injury.

The problem of short, unpaved runways at Princeton Airport will soon be eliminated, airport officials say, with the construction of a main 3,165-foot paved strip. At the present, the north-south runway is 2,400 feet long. "New hangars, a new main building and especially the new, longer runway will give Princeton Airport facilities as up-to-date as the planes we fly," is the comment.

THE PUBLIC SPEAKS

Views Are Welcome. The aspiring constituent brings a welcome tang to the meetings of any governing body, and it was even so at Township Committee Monday night.

Two Township taxpayers,

HEAVE HO, AND UP WE GO: One section of the cooling tower (there will be six in all) is lifted into position on the service addition now being built at Princeton Hospital. The equipment will be used to provide air conditioning in areas where none now exists, will have a total weight of 25 tons with a capacity of ten tons of water. The section being lifted here is the largest in size, weighs about six tons.

Miss Helen E. Fairbanks, 70 Valley Road, and Henry J. Frank, 126 Valley Road, are invariable attendees at Township Committee meetings. Occasionally they speak, often they just listen.

The few people who attend Committee meetings usually come with self-interest ("will my bid be accepted?" "Will my client get what he wants?" "Will my assessment be lowered?") but Miss Fairbanks and Mr. Frank come only as concerned citizens. (Mr. Frank does carry the portfolio of chairman, Traffic Safety Committee, but he often speaks on other matters.)

Both are mild in manner, laudful in question ("I don't quite understand, I wonder if you would explain . . ."), but relentless in pursuit of a clear answer or in the statement of an opinion.

"This new schedule," said Mr. Frank, "favors big commercial enterprises, too, not just worthy educational institutions like the University and the Princeton Day Schools. If you're going to pay $21 million for a building, a reduction in permit fee from $10,000 to $4,000 doesn't mean much. And don't forget sewers or sidewalks are charged the same, regardless of length. You pay the same rate per foot for a 200-foot sidewalk or a 2,000-foot walk."

"We think the sliding scale is a fairer estimate of costs," stated Committeeman John O. Green. Mr. Frank shrugged and sat down and Committee passed the revised schedule unanimously.

"And I Object, Too." A zoning ordinance amendment to implement the new school-costs agreement with the University was introduced Monday night.

"Why do we need a zoning amendment?" asked Mr. Frank. "I thought this was all taken care of two weeks ago when the agreement was announced." He asked to have the ordinance and the proposed amendment read, and G. Gordon Griffin, Township attorney, did so. "I don't see much difference," commented Mr. Frank.

The question at hand concerned the University's agreement to pay the Township the difference between what it costs to educate University children in Township schools, and what the University pays in school taxes.

Mr. Griffin explained that the amendment was designed to "tighten" the existing ordinance. As it now stands, the enabling ordinance refers to all municipal costs (fire, police, etc.). Committee wants to narrow it to school costs alone.

"Will this come up for public hearing?" asked Miss Fairbanks.

Mr. Griffin said the amendment would be forwarded to the Planning Board, which could hold a public hearing or not, as it chose.

"I object to this agreement in principle," Miss Fairbanks explained, "and if there is a public hearing, I want to express my opposition. I believe it goes against the very basic principles of taxation."

Miss Fairbanks also asked Mayor William L. Wilson to

"At 80 mph . . . a truck pulled out in front of us. The new brakes really worked — if they hadn't, we probably wouldn't be writing this report." (Road & Track.)

"No grab, no slide, no sweat, but marvelous deceleration from the four discs." (Science & Mechanics.)

"The R-8 is one of that select group of cars that seem bigger on the inside than on the outside."

"It's front seats are absolutely the best in this class." (Car & Driver.)

The R-8's got the only push-button automatic in its class. The only automatic in the world that doesn't waste a drop of gas. It's so new, the magazines haven't had a chance to test it. clarify "capital costs" in the revised agreement with the Borough on financing the new public library. (In the revision, all costs—operating and capital—are split with the Borough on a tax-rebate basis.)

Mayor Wilson said that "capital costs" would include the cost of the new building, would not include the cost of new books, which would be budgeted on a yearly basis.

Who Pays for Paving? If Oakland Road is paved, all its residents will bear the cost. If Pretty Brook Road is paved, the Township will pay one-third. And the spokesman for Oakland Road is heartily in favor of paving Pretty Brook! It all depends on how the question is asked. Thirteen residents of Oakland, an unpaved, potholed link connecting Walnut with Ewing on a black north of the new Borough school petitioned Committee on Monday night for paving. Petitioning means that residents pay all. The Township itself has decided to pave Pretty Brook.

Mr. Frank, who asked for clarification, was told that not only Pretty Brook residents, but people who lived elsewhere and used the road, had complained about Pretty Brook's condition and had asked Township to do something. But nobody signed that you-pay-all petition.
An ordinance appropriating $26,000 to pave Pretty Brook was introduced. Paul F. Duva, 25 Oakland, who had presented the Oakland case, said: "As a taxi-driver, I've tried to get through Pretty Brook in bad weather, sometimes delivering a medical prescription, and it's a bad road. I'm all in favor," said the Oakland resident, "of paving these short streets you can't get through."

Committee scheduled the Pretty Brook hearing for July 20, then

• Heard Mayor Wilson read his quarterly report, in which he summed up Committee's accomplishments since April 1.
• Learned, from the report, that the Township building inspector and his staff of three, at the behest of the School Board, move out of their office in the Slony Brook Building by September 1.

• Heard the Traffic Safety Committee recommend enforcement of the county's no-parking rule for the east side of Harrison, and the granting of an 83-foot loading zone on Guyot to Hawley's Meat Market.

• Announced that Township members of the new Joint Recreation Board would hold their first meeting next Monday. They are William Bonthron, Mrs. Richard Schoch, Harry Volwieder and John Yost.
• Assured Mr. Frank of his welcome at public meetings of the library's Board of Trustees. Mr. Frank had said he was reluctant to attend, although he wanted to very much, because meetings were held in a private home.

POLICE REPORT

Summer Delinquents Arrive. There were few entries last week in the Borough Police docket, reporting crime and none in the Township, an indication, perhaps, that lawbreakers were feeling the heat as much as anyone else. Borough Chief Peter J. McCrohan reported these items: a telephone inspector reported that two pay phones, one located in the Princeton Hospital dispensary, the other in the Firestone Library near the front entrance, had been tried open. However, he was unable to tell how much money had been taken from the dissembled machines.

A call from the secretary of the First Presbyterian Church reported the theft of a typewriter from the office of the Westminster Foundation located in the building. Four days later, on Monday, the church called again to report that someone had tried to force, unsuccessfully, the door of a coke machine. "The place is wide open," said McCrohan. The victims included James T. Collins Jr., Washington Street, Rocky Hill, four hub caps valued at $45 taken from his car, while it was parked in a Palmer Square yard, and Charles Emmons, 116 Clover Lane, and Soo Won Yoon, 40 Witherspoon Street.

"Disaster area" was the word being applied this week to Mercer and five other New Jersey counties as the drought reached serious proportions.

The latter pair had wallets stolen from lockers at the Princeton YMCA. Mr. Emmons told police his contained $3. Mrs. Yoon did not discover her loss, police said, until she got home when she noticed that it contained only $10 of the original $45. Both had been swimming when the theft occurred.

Somewhat more fortunate was Donald Vollrath of 15 Springdale Road. He reported that someone had ransacked second floor drawers in his house after removing a screen from a first-floor window. The only objects taken, as far as Mr. Vollrath can determine, were two keys. Detective Robert McAvonia said that the intruder apparently first tried to enter by forcing the kitchen door but was unsuccessful.

FIVE ARE FINED

In Borough Court, Five Princeton area residents were fined Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Taus Jr.

Angelo Arcaro, 42, Cherry Valley Road, and Peter Untermyer, 24, 17 Humbert Street, were each fined $15. Mr. Arcaro for careless driving the latter for improper passing. Daniel W. Lyden, 18 23 Columbia Avenue, Hopewell, paid $10 for speeding.

In criminal court, Linwood Pannell, 22, 23 Leigh avenue, pleaded guilty to a disorderly charge and was fined $40. According to Special Officer Clinton Groover, the complainant, Pannell was using loud and indecent language.

An acquaintance said, "The chemistry of this world is a fascinating mystery. Just think about the fact that everything in the world (including ourselves) is made up of chemical elements which are in a constant cycle of change and transition. Regardless of the continuous rearranging every element remains in balance in narrow limits, and if they didn't there'd be havoc. Take the air we breathe, as just one example. All people, all animals breathe in oxygen, then give off carbon dioxide into the atmosphere. With this unimaginable volume of change in constant process the atmosphere's principal components of 78% nitrogen, 21% oxygen, remain constant, as do all the minor elements, such as three hundredths of one percent carbon dioxide. Students and scientists can tell us about many of the processes which nature goes through to achieve these miracles, but the rest is inexplicable by mere man. We are no sage ourselves, but when we hear such thoughts wouldn't you like us to pass them along? May we also serve you, please? Kammler Buick Pontiac Co., Route 206, opposite Princeton Airport, 921-2222.

FAVOR BLUE SKIES TO HIGH RISE: Both Lynne Friedman (left) and Nancy Sowers are opposed to the construction of more apartment buildings in Princeton. Others, however, see a need for them.

Question of the Week

Question: Would you favor or oppose the construction of more apartment buildings in Princeton?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Lynne Friedman, Poe Road, Princeton High student: I'm opposed. Princeton's built. I don't want to see it built into a city. It's a quiet little town and I want it to stay that way.

Nancy Sowers, Shady Brook Lane, Princeton High Student: I think Princeton is a beautiful town and I wouldn't like to see apartments all over the place. I feel they have enough already.

Bob Alexander, 12 Hamilton Avenue, production manager for radio station WHWH Judge to Princeton when I had a difficult time trying to find a nice apartment. I'd say, yes, I'd be in favor. Another thing I think they should do something about are the rents, they're atrocious.

Miss Sharon Boen, Western Way, graduate student: Yes. As an incoming graduate student who finally found a place after a great deal of searching, I would be very much in favor of more apartments in Princeton.

Joseph O'Shaughnessy, 125 Clover Lane, branch manager for Friden: I'm against it 100 percent because the town is nice with just houses and no apartments. Leave the apartments in the city, no low-cost housing here. The land is too valuable.

Mrs. Cary Peebles, 5 Greenview, research assistant, Rutgers University: I would certainly favor the construction of low-cost apartments in Princeton but I emphasize the word "low cost." I was told when I came here nearly seven years ago by a white minister that the greatest need in the town then was for more low-cost housing. Since then the subject has been brought up, discussed and bandied about but nothing has ever been done about it.

Michael Ramus, 954 Kingston Road, artist: Yes, I'd favor it. I subscribe to the idea that in many cases it is better to concentrate housing. In fact, the greatest need is individual housing units all over the place. Also it's more appropriate for single people who have to be in Princeton. It would have to be done with great care, however.

Mrs. Francis Davison, 69 Moran Avenue, housewife: I would be in favor of it because I don't feel we have enough. There are quite a few elderly persons who have to take care of coal-burning furnaces in their home. It's hard for them. They'd love to have an apartment if they could find one. We just don't seem to have enough apartments here — spacious ones anyway.

John Watson, Graduate College, mechanical engineer: In behalf of the Graduate School — if they would all come equipped, as they do in New York, with pretty, single girls.

Miss Michelle Mesher, Hopewell, artist-teacher: I would be opposed. I feel enough is being done to spoil Princeton.

Edward Scavella, 10 Quarry Street, custodian for Princeton University: If it is going to help lower income people, people who can't afford to own their own homes and if they would be built in keeping with the rest of the Colonial style architecture in town, yes, I'd be in favor of it. But don't build one with a lot of stories and don't try to crowd 1,000 people into one building. In other words, if you can build something decent for people in this category, I think it would help. Certainly it is needed.

Jerry Petrillo, Trenton, technical support staff, Institute for Defense, Analyses, Prospect Avenue: Yes, I'd favor it if it meant housing I could afford. I'd like to move up here myself. I live in Trenton and I love it here in Princeton.

Mrs. Fred Bauer, 63 Jefferson Road, housewife: Yes, I think Princeton could probably use some more apartments because there are so many families that come here who don't plan to stay, for one reason or another, for more than one or two years. Also, since this vicinity is close to the metropolitan centers, it is in great demand as a place to live for commuters. As far as the university goes, there are always some students who are looking for a place to live so there are many areas where there is a need for housing.

Ronald Hogeland, Princeton Theological Seminary: I think TOWN TOPICS does not assume that you don't spread small carcasses resulting from typographical errors in advertisements. It will, however, reprint without charge that portion of any advertisement which appears incorrectly.

I'd ever it and the main reason is the situation we have at the seminary. We have a lot of property with no buildings in it. We all want to build apartments but the zoning laws say we can't. As a result, I'd say two-thirds of the students have to live off campus. In most of the apartments you couldn't have more than two children. Some couples have as many as four kids in a two-bedroom apartment at the seminary and two bedrooms is the most any apartment has. For single students there is no problem.

News Of The THEATRES

PRINCE AND PLAYHOUSE

The Carpelbaggers' know through Tuesday has much in common with its title, which is taken, of course, from the northern marauders of the post Civil War era. It's out to make a fast buck.

Harold Robbins' best-selling novel is advertised as "loaded with sex" (it isn't), and "highly-charged adventure" (which it also isn't). It is, however, a fairly interesting film that will draw large crowds regardless of its uneven pace and unnecessary (160-minute) length.

"Carpelbaggers" is the familiar tale of the young man on the way up, using people's toes
as stepping stones. George Peppard, as Jones Co. Jr., wheels and deals in chemicals
and movie studios and ends up with a full house. Carroll Baker scampers around as his
cently-attired stepmother,
Elizabeth Ashley hangs on as the lone suffering wife, and Martha Hyer looks cute as mistress turned movie star.

A lavish (technicolor) production has attempted to cover up rather routine acting. "Carpel-baggers" poses as highly-polished leather, but scratch the surface a bit and you'll find it's imitation.

THE GARDEN

"Bedtime Story" (now through Tuesday) is an attempt at romantic comedy that winds up
as a rather grim/fairy tale.

David Niven, who is able to carry it off, and Marlon Brando,
who can't, cavort around the Riviera as a couple of coo-
men living off wealthy women.
Bubbly Shirley Jones, as a supposedly wealthy soap heiress,
is sent in to complicate a paper-
thin plot.

Niven manages to make it through the picture unscathed,
but Brando is forced through a number of ridiculous scenes that do nothing to enhance the film or his image. As a deplorable waste of talent on a weak script, "Bedtime Story"
is a sure cure for insomnia.

WELCH IS HONORED

At Dinner Party, Thomas J.
Welch, 238 Moore Street, assistant to the manager of the Garden Theater, was honored
last week at a dinner party at the Nassau Inn. Retiring after 45 years of service, he was presented with a watch on behalf of the officers of Palmer Square, Inc.

Mr. Welch will continue his association with theater on a part-time basis. His successor will be Fred C. Rhodes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H.
Rhodes, 15 Hornor Lane.

IT'S NEW To Us

HAIR NEED DOING?

New Shop in Town. Corrective work on hair that has been damaged by excessive coloring, permanents, summer sun or wind, is the specialty of the house at Tavernwood, the new hairdressing salon now open at 69 Palmer Square West.

Bernard and Janice Archibedes, proprietors of the new shop, have worked in Princeton salons for many years and are known to Princeton women for their hairdressing skills. Together, they have worked out a formula for the restoration of damaged hair, and Mr. Bernard is so enthusiastic about his preparation that he would like to treat every head in Princeton to his discovery.

Whether the only specialty at Tavernwood, however, Janice is an expert at color work. All four members of the staff (including Mr. Rodney, who Princeton women will recall for his hair-dressing gifts) are experienced in permanent styling, cutting and all the other deft skills required of a first-rate hairdresser. Incidentally, Mr. Bernard (probably in vain) — that girls in their teens will come to the shop for proper cutting and shaping. He means with despair over girls who look away at their own hair and then wonder why it's so hard to put up on rollers.

"If these young girls would come to me for the proper cut," he says, "then using rollers at home would be so much easier, and so much more effective."

(Consultation is available at Tavernwood, by the way, whether you're a teen-ager or considerably beyond.)

Permanents at the new shop start at $30, which includes cut, shampoo and set. The regular shampoo and set price is $4, with a $4.50 surcharge for French twists or high styling. Tavernwood will accept appointments until 6 p.m. on Thursdays and 7 p.m. on Fridays, with a regular closing time of 5:30 the rest of the week. These hours are flexible, however; call 924-1983 and make arrangements. Tavernwood has been designed by Mr. Bernard so that each booth is quite private. Even the driers are behind a jew partition so that women seated there cannot valet another customer's treatment.

Out in front, there is an extensive inventory of cosmetics, particularly Revlon and L'Oréal featuring, this summertime, the Funflowers by Revlon with their color-caddy, Orange Lustre tanning jelly, and all the colognes, dusting powders, moisture lotions and eau de toilette sprays you need to keep truly cool.

Tavern also has a fascinating collection of nets, sleep-caps and mantillas, some of them lovely creations in black

How Short Are You?

Trend-spotting in Hopewell not long ago, we called on Mr. Di Iorio, owner of the men's shop on West Broad Street.

As a tailor of 30 years' experience in Hopewell, Mr. Di Iorio can spot trends as skillfully as he can turn a cuff, and he tells us that in the past year — one year only — he has noticed a decided upward and outward curve in the size of men's shorts.

"I sell more of the larger sizes now than I did," he observes, "and not just because more big men are wearing shorts. The same customers I've had for years are inching up. My 34's are wearing 36. My 36's are wearing 38, my 40's are wearing 42. New customers who come into the shop, men I've never fitted before, a lot of them wear those big sizes. Where will it all end?"

or white lace pretty enough to wear over a new party hair-do.

THAT TRAVELING MAN

Keep it Brief. The compact, the washable and the convenient are necessities for the traveler, but why not also for the man who stays home? Di Iorio's, the men's shop in Hopewell on West Broad happens to have a number of things inestimably valuable to a man on the go. Men on the stay will also find them useful.

For example, McGregor's linen-dacron suit for warm voyaging. It's natural linen, both jacket and trousers. The jacket has been designed with inner pockets, two on one side and one the other, big enough for passport, wallet and whatever secret documents CIA men carry. May be even a left-arm holster for the 25 Beretta automatic, for all we know.

"Dacron" is an Arrow shirt that honestly does not need to be ironed, ever. Slish it with detergent and water and hang it up to dry. Ready for wear at 8 a.m. the next day. At the moment, it comes in white with short sleeves, but you may also have it in long sleeves with a very pale, very narrow blue stripe against the white.

A tie-holder with checked lining (travelers' checks, no doubt) holds ties and belts. You suspend it in your hotel closet. Or your closet at home, why not?

Madras makes the zip carry-all bag (THERE'S that 25 Beretta!) and a flat, leather-bound money clip.

What else? Well, Di Iorio

is a shop that prefers the top name brands, advises McGregor's red-white dacron and cotton seersucker jacket for the rest of summer's hot days, and a Rotary 500 suit for fall.

Arrow, McGregor and ducky sports shirts are abundant here, in any style you name, any color you choose. Clear maize yellow knit appeals to us. You may like the tweedy look of a garter stitch knit in grey. These knits are $4 and up, with $5.95 the usual price.

Butt-downs by Arrow are tapered as slim as a pole if you're teen or early 20's. They are also "contoured" — discreet work — if you are no longer as flat as you were at 18.

FIT OR FLARE

With Flair in Bath. The sleekness of a stretch slack, the freedom of an A-line you may have either or both from Bailey's this summer.

At the Shopping Center store, we found a pair of pale beige, Levi stretch slacks, just about as suave as they come, for $7.98, and a pair of olive stretch pants (bright blue or coral, too) so attractively cut that they do not need an instep strap. $14.98.

The A-flare comes in a cotton wrap-around skirt woven with wool fibres to give it body. Don't worry about that wool, though; you can even boil this skirt, if you need to. It comes in dark prints for $5.98.

Another skirt is navy denim with red stitching fashioned to look like the twin sister of a dungaree. It has fly front, slant pockets, wide belt tabs, everything but legs. $6.98.

Atop, you might wear the white boat-neck blouse with short sleeves or the white dacron-cotton "linen" with its three self-buttons. For high visibility, try the polished cotton with sharp black leaves and luminous cabbage roses on its white ground. $3.98.

Now and in the fall, you'll wear the shirt dress of very fine cotton, printed all over with a minute blue paisley design, cut with roll-up sleeves and a tie front. Multi-colored seersucker in a two-piece suit will see you into fall, too.

That same suit is also perfect for summer on a dandy candy pink and white stripe with sleeveless pink shell. For juniors, $16.98.

And for cool nightwear, Bailey recommends a cotton batiste gown, sheer, with cap sleeves and a pastel embroidered yoke. Over it, if you wish, you can wear a street-length cotton smock, long-sleeved artist's style, as covered-up as can be. $5.98.

Forsores Princetonians See "Hamlet" Filmed

When a friend calls and asks if you'd like a free free tickets to the John Gielgud "Hamlet" with Richard Burton, the only possible answer is an affirmative.

That is why 83 lucky Princetonians occupied orchestra seats for the show's Wednesday matinee, last week, one of three "Hamlet" performances filmed in its entirety for release this fall in cities which wouldn't have a chance to see the production otherwise.

Al Han, associated with Electroneovision, the new low-light process used to film "Hamlet," is the brother-in-law of Mrs. Sterling Anders, 601 Lake Drive, His firm, and the film, the third party to the enterprise, decided they wanted for their movie an audience which would first of all, not object to having its own picture taken, and second, would be knowledgeable enough to provide the proper audience sound effects: laughter in the right places, no snickering, taut silence when called for, and so on.

Mr. Han, therefore, asked his sister-in-law to call a few friends and offer them free tickets. The rest of the orchestra was filled by free-loading friends of Warners and Theatricals, all presumably as soberly knowledgeable as the Princeton contingent.

Non-invited guests, who had only paid money, got a refund at the box-office, or were told to come back another day.

Brocher-Hill, Miss Gleda L. Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen H. Hill of Finnerde, to Ernest C. Brocher III of Madison Street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Brocher Jr. of Wynnewood, Pa. June 27, Princeton University Church.

Loyko-Wardell, Miss Bertie Loyko, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wardell of Belle Meade, to Raymond J. Loyko, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Loyko of Manville, June 27, Sacred Heart Church, Manville.

Samuel - Sommerville, Miss Josephine Sommerville, daughter of Mrs. Genevieve Sommerville of Wertsville Road, Hopeville, and Oddone Sommerville of New England, to William E. Samuel, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Samuel of Trenton, June 27, Alphonse Church, Hopeville.

Merritt-Farrington, Mrs. Janet Keuthan Merritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Keuthan, to Jeremiah A. Farrington of New Hope, Pa., son of Mr. and Mrs. Farrington of Bronxville, N.Y. July 7, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar M. Gemmell, Province Line Road.

with impromptu audience participation. The Borge show replaces the Village Stompers, originally scheduled.

"Show Boat," starring Bert Wheeler as Captain Andy, opens Tuesday for a week. Meredith Willson's "Music Man" is currently on the boards.

"Show Boat" has become as seasonal as summer corn. This will mark Bert Wheeler's third appearance in the role at Lam-bertville and the musical's fifth production under St. John Terrell's tent. Not to be forgotten, however, is the rousing performance of the PAB players at McCarter this spring.

Curtain time at the Music Circus is 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Friday, 6 and 9:30 p.m. Saturdays, and 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

TWO WILL PLAY TWO
Piano Team Coming, Ferrante and Teicher, the duopiano team that is sometimes known as "The Movie Theme Team" will play the Music Circus in Lambertville this Sunday at 4 in a program called "Strike Up the Grands."

Known for their best-selling recordings of theme music from "Exodus," "The Apartment," "West Side Story" and others, Ferrante and Teicher have sold more than 7½ million single records and 3½ million lps of their theme arrangements.

The pair met when they were 6 years old, studying at the Juillard School of Music under the same teachers. Both were graduated as piano majors, both later returned to Juillard in order to teach theory and composition.

They began with a limited concert schedule, but their commitments have grown over the years until they have to their credit over a thousand concert engagements, and appearances on almost every top-rated television variety show.

"A THOUSAND CLOWNS"
Comedy at New Hope. The individual in rebellion against bureaucracy sounds like a pompous theme for a comedy but "A Thousand Clowns," opening Monday in New Hope, is indeed a comedy.

The Bert Fordner play, which ran on Broadway for more than a year, tells the story of a free-lance writer who lives with a young boy and finds that he has to fence with a social worker from the welfare department in order to maintain his status as bachelor father.

James Whitmore returns to the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, to play the starring role. Mr. Whitmore was last in New Hope five years ago. He has appeared in numerous movies, including "Battle Ground," "The Asphalt Jungle," "The Eddie Duchin Story," and, currently, in "Black Like Me."

"A Thousand Clowns" will be given at 8:30 each evening with matinee performances Wednesday and Saturdays at 2. The current production, running through Saturday night, is "A Perfect Frenzy," starring Shelly Bertram.

Facts You Should Know About

Oriental Rugs

SYMBOLS IN ORIENTAL RUG MOTIFS

• A widely spread symbolic pattern is the emblem of the tree, which expresses the abstract idea of life and immortality, productive power, happiness and knowledge. The tree is represented in a thousand and one forms. It is not the identity of the plant, but its constant re-appearance in different forms which constitutes the essential features of the symbol. For example, the fig tree has been changed into an apple tree, or date palm, or the sacred bush.

age in the vicinity of the University tennis courts.
For violating a Borough ordinance, Helen Van Cleave, 9 Mercer Street, was fined $10. She was charged with failing to dispose properly of a pile of waste paper in front of her residence to be picked-up by refuse collectors.
On charge of threatening to kill, filed against Eugene Kilian, 39 108 Witherpoon Street, was transferred to the Grand Jury. Police said that Mrs. Kilian had threatened the life of a neighbor with a shotgun.

QUO VADIS, GROTTO?

Restaurant Too Small. Like a couple of well-wetted strands of at dense spaghetti, future plans for The Grotto, successful Italian restaurant on Witherpoon Street, are apparently almost inextricably tangled. And all because of success.
The over-capacity crowds, which twice daily come to feast at the 30-seat dining spot — and perhaps to spend half an hour just waiting for a table — are indicative of the restaurant's popularity. They also are good and sufficient evidence to Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Filenza, The Grotto's owners, that expansion is imperative.

But the Filenzas aren't sure yet just what they will be allowed to do about it. They now have two applications before two Princeton boards with the hope that, if one isn't okayed, the other will be — and that they then can increase their restaurant's diminutive size to meet the king-size demand for their pasta and all that goes with it.

One application, made to the Zoning Board, asks for a variance of off-street parking requirements so that the Filenzas can expand to a restaurant to the second floor. The other, which will come before Mayor and Borough Council on Tuesday night, requests the transfer of The Grotto's liquor license to a new location at 194 Nassau Street.

If the Zoning Board rejects the first request, the Filenzas hope to move their thriving business to the new address. There they would have 3,200 square feet of space and a seating capacity of 125.

TREE-TRIMMER HURT

By Live Power Line. James W. Glover, 40, of 64 Spruce Street, was hanged and knocked unconscious Tuesday morning when he mistook a live power wire for a small branch on a tree he was trimming in front of 14 Wilton Street. He accidentally seized the wire while adjusting his safety belt.

Mr. Glover, an employee of the (Borough Engineer's) office, was badly burned on the left hand and was unconscious for more than ten minutes. Taken to Princeton Hospital by the First Aid and Rescue Squad, he was admitted to the intensive care unit in what was termed "fair" condition.

BOYD WITHDRAWS

From Hopewell Council Race. V. Frank Boyd has withdrawn

College Road to Close

College Road will be closed permanently this Saturday. 24 hours after the first traffic light flashes at the faculty-Washington intersection.

Scheduled for closing on July 6, College Road was a surprise when John Moran, Director of Planning for the University, succeeded in getting the county and the state to move ahead, and fast, on shifting that traffic light from College to Faculty. The Township most definitely did NOT want College closed by the University until the Faculty-Washington intersection had a traffic light.

Faculty Road will now replace College as a cross-town road connecting Washington with Alexander and University.

At Township Committee Monday night, Administrator Joseph R. Nini said the traffic was grateful to the University for prodding county and state into action on the traffic light.

As a candidate for the Hopewell Borough Council, in making his announcement, Mr. Boyd said that his decision had been prompted by recent developments in his business associations.

Charles V. Sams has been selected to take Mr. Boyd's place. A long-time resident of Mercer County, Mr. Sams is employed by International Business Machines. Formerly he taught at Ewing High School. He was educated at Trenton State College and Rutgers University, and is a trustee of the Hopewell Presbyterian Church.

The Hopewell Borough Democratic Club will vote on the endorsement of Mr. Sams' candidacy at its August meeting. Thomas Cooper is the other Democratic candidate for the Borough Council.

FIGHT BLIGHT

Draught Intensifies Problem. Dought Elm Blight seems to be more of a problem in Princeton this year than it has been in the past, perhaps because the community has experienced two successive dry seasons. The growing seriousness of the blight situation has prompted the Township Open Space Commission to invite Borough and Township Shade Tree Commissions to a discussion of the problem.

Open Space members hope that Borough and Township can coordinate their blight-fight efforts, because the disease knows no political boundaries. The Borough is now testing the effectiveness of anti-blight chemicals.

TEN LOSE LICENSES

Under Point System. The licenses of ten Princeton area drivers have been suspended by the Department of Motor Vehicles under its Point System for speeding.

They are: Calvin H. Mill, 31 Locust Lane, William Cox, 40, 120 Leigh

Avenue, and Junior Schneider, 200 Hopewell Road, all of Hopewell; Christopher C. Pennock, 20, 56 Adams Drive; Joseph A. Terracino, 29, 65 E. Broad Street, Hopewell; and William W. Kay, 4th, 25, 17 S. Main Street, Cranbury, all three months.

Also, Barry S. Davison, 22, Carter Road, and David M. Wentworth, 21, 42 Linden Lane, both 45 days; Eddie H. Burleson, 23, Route 27, 23 Rocky Hill, and Charles A. Stricker III, 24, 6 Fisher Avenue, both one month.

Speeders are Janice M. Harsanyi, 35, 111 Laurel Road, and Steven J. Fox, 53, 197 Washington Road. The license of each was suspended 30 days.

TEENS READ AND TALK

They Do Both Well. "Last summer, I didn't have a chance to say much during discussion because the teen-agers were so well-informed," said David Eroyod this week in a comment about last summer's literary discussion for teen-agers.

The first one for 1964 will be held this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Princeton Public Library. Subject: "The Fire Next Time," by James Baldwin, with Dr. Eroyod serving again as discussion leader. Eroyod is associate professor of speech at Temple University.

Next Thursday, Dr. Eroyod and the teens will talk about James Agee's novel, "A Death in the Family." This novel won the Pulitzer Prize, so did the play, "All the Way Home," which was made from it. Both are in the public library, along with "Letters of James Agee to Father Fife."

On Thursday, July 23, the topic will be T.S. Eliot's play, "Murder in the Cathedral." The library has, in addition to the Eliot play, Jean Anouilh's drama, "Becket," and Dr. Eroyod suggests that teens read both and compare.

PARENTS DAY THURSDAY

At Camp Woo-Po-Mog. This Thursday will be Parents Day at Camp Woo-Po-Mog, the Princeton YMCA Day Camp located on the Hun School campus.

The day will start with an assembly at 8:45 in the morning at the YMCA field where parents can then observe the swimming progress of their children at the Y pool. From there, the program will shift to the Hun School grounds off Edgerstone Road for a cook-out at noon for parents and campers.

After lunch, the campers will put on a number of skits including Indian dances by the Tuscarora, Tomahawk and Koola Bear tribes. Later, parents will have an opportunity to visit campfires and confer with members of the day camp staff. A dip in the Y pool at 3:30 for all campers will end the program.

According to George Povialis, camp director, the second period of camp, starting July 13, has a waiting list. However, openings remain in periods three or four, starting July 27 and August 10, respectively.

Community Pool a Must.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The plans now being made for recreation in our community are most commendable. However, many people are noting that nothing has been said about our greatest need, municipal swimming facilities. These last weeks of most unpleasant weather have pointed up the lack very clearly.

In view of the fact that no facility would be used by more people of all age groups than would a swimming pool in Community Gardens, it would seem in order to publish the reason why nothing of the sort is being mentioned in plans for that area. If the reasons are financial, perhaps someone can come up with a solution to them. If they are only man and small, and therefore beneath us, they should be brought out into the open where they can be demolished by men of good will.

LESTER THIBBALS JR

131 Randall Road

(Editor's Note: At the Township Committee meeting of June 15, Commissioner John O. Green, in answer to a similar letter, said: "A swimming pool is part of the Community Gardens plan. The main questions are 'how' and 'when' and the Board of Recreation Commissioners will presumably make these decisions." In discussing the proposed pool, Township officials refer to the many claims made on the dollar new library. Open Space acquisition before all the open space is gone, sewer extension, etc.) and Mr. Green concluded his June 15 remarks by saying that Committee would consider "the local needs and desires of the total community without discrimination of any kind."

In his quarterly report, Township Mayor William I. Wilson this week referred to the present work being done on Community Park as "the first of the Park's presently-planned three stages." An eventual swimming pool has always been part of a "stage," however, neither Borough nor Township is convinced that it is a "number one item."

Parking Ban Hilarious.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The attention of the officers of the Chamber of Commerce was called to a recent letter to the press (Town Topics July 21) with respect to the traffic problems of Nassau Street.

When it is implied that not much has been done about the "impending crisis" resulting from the closing of College Road, this is not factual. The Mayor and Council as well as the Planning Board in turn have urged the University to reconsider this decision, and more recently have asked deferment at least until the slow-moving State Highway Department can wade through the red tape approving the relocation of the traffic light from College Road to the new intersection of Faculty Road with Washington Road. While Faculty Road is not the most convenient substitute for College Road, it does represent a major effort by the University to provide a reasonable substitute unimpeded by student pedestrian traffic and other campus obstacles.

While it was hoped that the University would hold off until this traffic light change had been accomplished, the Chamber of Commerce advocates acceptance of the University's decision to close this road, in good grace and the taking of prompt action on the long-awaited relocation of Jackson Street to improve the traffic flow between Avalon Place and Wiggins Street to provide the much discussed route parallel to Nassau Street. Delays have been caused by lack of one land acquisition and one family relocation.

The Chamber urges that the town get on with this business and thus materially help the East-West flow of traffic. Further attention could also soon be given to the completion of the so-called Green Belt Road in the adjoining Township through the co-operative efforts of the various Planning Boards.

The suggestion of banning all parking on the north side of Nassau Street and on unspecified areas of Witherspoon Street flies in the face of all sensible planning. The answer is not less parking for the consumer, but better enforcement of the existing parking regulations and the acquisition of more off-street areas. The Chamber has consistently sought uniform one hour parking on Nassau Street, to avoid confusion, better enforcement of both on-street and off-street parking with the goal of eventual elimination of all meter-feeding.

Truck deliveries to stores do present a thorny problem, not just arising out of the double-parking tendencies of out-of-town delivery trucks but also the local tendency of merchants to park their own delivery trucks immediately in front of their shops, thereby depriving their customers of the use of valuable customer parking space. Except at the times, when it is necessary to load these local delivery trucks from the store itself, they should be parked off-street by the local merchant.

The out-of-town delivery service would be assisted not only by the location of centrally placed loading zone in each block along Nassau Street, but also by better enforcement of parking regulations. One large trucking firm has threatened to stop service to Princeton.

Mayors for Seranton

Mayors Henry S. Patterson of the Borough and William L. Wilson of the Township have announced their endorsement of Governor William Seranton of Pennsylvania for the Republican presidential nomination.

In a joint statement, the two mayors said they were supporting the governor because he believes in "financial conservatism, realistic responsibility in foreign affairs and an active commitment to freedom of economic, political and social equality for all races."

We believe that the Princeton community—and particularly the Borough—identify themselves with these principles," the mayors stated. "We urge all of our friends and the New Jersey delegates to the convention to support and work for Governor Seranton's candidacy."

too if its double parking policy is interfered with by enforcement, but still persists in sending its largest trucks to do a job for which the trucks are not fitted. How long can Princeton stand for this attitude? Naturally the Chamber is interested in developing interior-block parking combined with provisions for off-door deliveries. Revenue from our parking meters supports the parking program, its enforcement and its development of new parking areas to alleviate traffic and parking congestion. We know these problems cannot be solved overnight. We feel that the only constructive course is to continue to develop the best supplemented off-street parking program we can find and to develop a well-manned and systematic enforcement effort which will eliminate the abuses we see every day by those who are more interested in momentary personal convenience but blind in the interests of the greater number.

GOING BACK in Town Topics

FIVE YEARS AGO
Jun. 9, 1959. The heat and humidity in Princeton in 1964
is sufficiently severe and unyielding to qualify as a cross between the barometric conditions in Somerset Maugham's
"Rain" and what residents of Princetonians, but native
towns, call "good corn weather." A look at the situation in 1959 reveals a like situation. Five years ago, during an almost interminable (and intolerable) 90-plus temperature period, Princeton weather expert David M. Ludlum had scolded his fellow townspeople with the good news: "We're getting our summer over early."

"By mid-July," he had gaped, "cooler air from Canada will be the rule rather than the exception." (Just the weekend before, Mr. Ludlum
had coolly encouraged a six-inch snow storm which had blanketed the Colorado Mountains, so he was feeling the wanted sauna more than most.)
In 1964, everyone was hoping the same phenomena would close at hand — everyone,
that is, except for air-conditioning salesmen.

There were bargains aplenty at the opening of annual summer sales in Princeton five years ago. But one was hard to beat: a 49-star flag for 49
cents, reduced for quick sale
and, because of Hawaii and Alaska, completely obsolete.

A dog who hadn't differentiated between a living flower
and a fire hydrant had cost his mistress $5 after a lengthy hearing in Township court —
three dollars fine plus two dollars cost. The charge for irrigating the wrong object might have come under some
"disorderly canines act" but instead of that it was adjudged
to be fault of the pooch's
owner and a general violation of the Township's dog ordinance.

This owner, as is usually the case, finds leveled against pets or adolescent humans, paid the fine. And chances are good that the dog, again

like the most adolescent humans,
never paid the fine back.

TEN YEARS AGO

July 8, 1954. Repeated rumors that Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer would resign as director of the Institute for Advanced Study had reached the pages of The New York Times ten years ago in a column by James Reston. The possibility had been indicated as part of the announcement that the Atomic Energy Commission
had rejected, 4 to 1, Dr.
Oppenheimer's appeal for reinstatement as a government adviser. He had been suspended earlier for "security reasons."
The lone dissenting vote in the A. E. C. findings had been cast by another well-known physicist, Dr. Henry De Wolf Smyth, who had emphasized his belief in Dr. Oppenheimer's "complete loyalty"
with: "The most important evidence is the complete lack of pretense in the entire record that Dr. Oppenheimer has ever divulged any secret information... and failure to use
a man of such great talents might seriously impair the strength and power of the nation."

Permanent members and producers emeriti of the Institute had unanimously endorsed Dr. Oppenheimer's loyalty and "his creation's pro-fessio trustworthiness and patriotic devotion (which) remains in unimpaired just as admiration for his magnificent public service is undiminished."

Now, ten years later, the tribulations of Dr. Oppenheimer are long since past — he rightfully remained, and still remains, director of the Institute and just last year the President of the United States presented him with this country's highest award to a scientist, the Enrico Fermi Award. The award, "for an outstanding contribution to the development, use or control of atomic energy," consists of a medal, citation and $50,000.

Who selects the recipient?
Why, Dr. Oppenheimer's former maligners, of course: the
A.E.C.

Elsewhere in Princeton ten years ago, the University was first of its kind in the country
to start construction of a housing project, Lakeside Houses,
just west of Harrison near the Carnegie. Under a unique life occupancy housing
plan, a faculty member could purchase stock which would give him and his wife lifetime
ownership of the homes — and eventual repurchase at full cost
by the University.

Meanwhile, in sports the Princeton Athletic Club scored its fourth straight zero defeats, one tie to increase its comfortable lead in the Tri-County Baseball League standings. Big men for the P.A.C.: pitcher Bruce Dennen (also a clutch hitter), Bill Rodefeld,
Bob Montgomery and Walt
Wells.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

July 7, 1949. Among the many summer-weight news
items making news in Princeton 15 years ago were these:

A small, black pooch, name of Jinx, was making full use of the William Street playground — climbing up the rungs of a 12-foot ladder to a sliding board and then coasting nonchalantly down the slide on all fours. Jinx, who picked up the idea just from watching
the kids, also liked to balance on the see-saw, to ride a tri-
cycle with paws on handlebars,
but maybe liked best of all to sit in a bicycle basket and let someone else do the pedaling.

Eight Princetonians had hung "Come Fishin'" signs in their windows. And indeed they had, for tuna off Brielle.
One of the fishermen, Charlie McHugh, had landed an 86-pounder, enough to fill a few dozen tuna cans, after an hour's tussle. Among these from Princeton who had beaded eight additional tuna were:
Phil Carroll, Tom Brophy, Joe
Herrmann, Andy O'Hara and Jack Sweeney.

OFFER STUDENTS LOANS
Up To $7500. The Princeton
Savings and Loan Association, 29 Chambers Street, has instituted a program of loans to college students.

"We have always taken the view," said B. Franklin Bunn, Association president, "that every young person who is qualified should avail himself or herself of every opportunity to achieve a full college education."

"During the past few years,
however, the cost of such an attempt has become prohibitive
for many young people of average means. Consequently, we are very pleased to announce that, with the cooperation of the New Jersey Higher Education Assistance Authority, Princeton Savings will make available funds up to $7500 per student to help them complete their studies."

New Jersey residents whose applications to college have been accepted are eligible. The funds are loaned to the student on his own signature, but only with consent of parent or guardian. Repayment terms extend to a maximum of six years after graduation.

"While these funds are not in any way connected with scholarship funds," Mr. Bunn said, "they will, of course, be granted first to students whose records indicate they will make best use of them."

able at Princeton Savings and Loan Association.

Dear Princeton:

Spoleto, Italy
So very much has happened this past week. Even though nothing definite had been planned and scheduled for us while here in Spoleto, we have had very little idle time on our hands. Mr. Menotti invited us to an Italian folk concert, we are going to a modern dance performance tonight, and to the opera tomorrow evening.

However, twice-a-day rushed rehearsals have left us little time for sightseeing or shopping. Rest has been on the agenda for most of us — and I suspect that this will be true in Budapest too.

Just a word about the food here — it's pretty sorry, and a real disappointment. There are three courses: appetizer of a bland pasta or soup, main course of meat, potatoes, and vegetable, and dessert. The main course is usually greasy or vinegary. Desserts are best with delicious fruits and ice cream.

Bread is served with every meal; milk is non-existent. The big meal is in the middle of the day with evening dinner a light affair.

To return to Florence for a moment. This charming city is much prettier than Rome but not nearly as grand. The hill sides are all so green and dotted with the characteristic orange tiled roofs of hill villas. After a final day of sightseeing we were off for Spoleto.

We travelled through all sorts of lovely little towns en route, including St. Giovanni and Arezzo, and slowly climbed the mountain around Lake Balnearia. A gorgeous panoramic view met our eye — water, hills, green foliage and fields, roads, houses. It is so good to see honest-to-goodness mountains here.

A Song of St. Francis. We stopped in Perugia, high on a mountaintop for lunch, and then went on to Assisi for several unforgettable hours. One of the priests, Father Claude, a native of Baltimore, took us on a tour of the church.

He was so kind, friendly, helpful, and was interested in us as well as in St. Francis. He showed us the famous frescoes depicting the life of St. Francis. When we finished, we sang three short songs for him; he was charmed and promised to come to Spoleto to hear us if possible.

In Spoleto we are staying in a Catholic girls' college, in two long hospital-like rooms. The boys are housed in a hostel near town which has the barest essentials. We girls are located a good distance from town which means walking to and from rehearsals which is good exercise and a relief from a tourist bus.

Our rehearsals and concerts are so exciting. The orchestra is terrific. The musicians are excellent, and so friendly that it makes us all one big happy family. They are always joking and kidding Mr. Hilbish on his Italian. Our first concert was given for the press. The Bach went beautifully, the Brahms not so well. Wolfer, excellent, and the Stravinsky fair. Only a few people were in the audience but the reports were very good. We will get copies of the reviews later.

Our second concert followed that evening. We got a starring ovation and Mr. Menotti was most enthusiastic and so was Thomas Shippers who was with him. Mr. Menotti has been exceedingly kind and hospitable to us. We had lunch with him the day before the concert and were received in his home after the evening premier. This was such a lovely experience. Today (Saturday) is our last concert. Yesterday the orchestra was moved below the stage which made our timing difficult. Singing the Brahms poses a pitch problem because the piano, which is all we have for accompaniment, is off in a corner.

It has been fun wandering up and down the little streets and alleyways peeking into all the stores and open workshops. We are all eager to go behind the Iron Curtain but really are very sad to be leaving Italy for we all love it here. Again our many thanks for making it possible for us to be in this fascinating country.

MUSIC In Princeton

FESTIVAL FINALE
Ormandy Conducts Re-
quiem — The Tercentenary Festival of Music on the eastern Westminister Chorus College came to an appropriately sonorous conclusion
the weekend with two performances of the Verdi Requiem under the direction of Eugene Ormandy. It was an altogether fitting finale to the Tercentenary's musical observance, on occasion of which the more auspicious by the presence of Mr. Ormandy on the podium. That the Requiem saw fit to honor the Festival
in this way is no small tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Harsanyi and the reputation of the Westminister Chorus, for he does very little conducting of this nature — and one scarcely feels that he holds a particularly soft spot in his heart for the noble state of New Jersey,
however old she may be.

The performances of the Requiem were preceded on Wednesday by the third and final concert by Mr. Harsanyi and his newly-founded Concert Orchestra of New Jersey,
which was in many respects
the best of this ensemble's Festival appearances. Eaching some trifling morture,
Mr. Harsanyi opened the evening with a bold bit of programming, Richard Strauss'
"Metamorphosen." Indeed, his selection of this demanding work was another seeming indication of a "forward look"
on Mr. Harsanyi's part with respect to programming, an area which has not always been one of his strong points
with the Princeton Symphony.

The "Metamorphosen,"
"Study for 23 Solo Strings," is in one long, extended fantastic movement, and was written by Strauss in 1945 as the war was drawing to a close.
Some critics have therefore viewed it as his composer's epitaph, or dirge, to his native Germany, defeated both in body and in what was most painful for Strauss, its creative spirit also.
Whether by accident or design, the four repeated G's of the major theme seem "borrowed" from the Funeral
March of Beethoven's "Eroica" Symphony, while this and other themes are undergoing a series of harmonic changes (or being "metamorphosed"), there are other pointed "borrowings," including a reference to the King Marke monologue of Wagner's "Tristan."

Tour De Force. A majestic and moving work, it is also a miniature "tour de force," and the Concert Orchestra brought it off magnificently. Its intonation, both individually and collectively, was virtually perfect
from beginning to end, no
small feat considering the stifling heat of the tent and the extreme humidity of the evening.
Andrew Imbrie's modest and reasonably effective "On the Beach at Night" received an incisive performance from the orchestra and a small thirty-voice sub-section of the West-minister Choir prepared with precision by Warren Martin.
A relatively early work of Mr.
Imbrie's, "On the Beach" dates
from 1948 and utilizes the Walt Whitman poem of the same name.

His chief interest lies in the orchestra setting which illustrates the composer's craft in writing for strings. His three quartets are among his most notable compositions. The vocal line seems laborered at times,

but many a composer other than Mr. Imbrie has failed to achieve wholly satisfying results using Whitman as text.

Change of Venue. A break in the heat spell at intermission
brought with it high winds which temporarily made the festival tent unsafe. As a result, the remainder of the concert
was transferred inside to the Westminister Chapel, where the performance was resumed after a short delay.

Those stalwarts who persevered were rewarded with the best playing and the best sound to come from the Concert Orchestra thus far. Aided by the Chapel's resonant, bright acoustics,
the sound of the orchestra
could really be termed exciting. The first time and the musicians played with a bitterly unrealized sheen and performance, although one could attribute this less to divine inspiration than to the fact that they were the first to hear hear one another at long last.

From his bag of tricks, Mr.
Harsanyi pulled another relatively neglected work, Vaughan
Williams' one and only Violin Concerto. Written in the mid-1920's, it is in actuality more of a concerto grosso than a concerto proper, as the solo instrument is rarely heard except in combination with various elements of the orchestra, i.e., there are no prolonged solo
passages or cadenzas.

Intensely lyrical in conception, the concerto is indicative of the manner in which Vaughan Williams absorbed the English folk-song idiom so that it is felt indirectly rather than through actual or transcribed folk tunes per se. Joseph Fuchs was the accomplished soloist,
and his smooth tone and sensitive phrasing was particularly noteworthy in the wistful and haunting adagio.

Last is Best. But the conductor managed to save the best for last, a sparkling interpretation of Mozart's Symphony
No. 29 in A major (K. 201).
Here is Mozart at his precocious best, for the work was written just after its young composer had turned eighteen. The Symphony dates from 1774
and occurs about midway, both chronologically and artistically,
in Mozart's progress and development with the Symphonic form between 1764 and 1788 —
a journey which scholar Alfred Einstein terms "an advance
from the decorative to the expressive, from the external to the internal, from mere ceremonial to spiritual avowal."
The orchestra's playing was precise, accurate and spirited
from start to finish, with Mr.
Harsanyi in command all the way, lavishing expert care on many a passing phrase and nuance.

Story of The Requiem. The idea of a Requiem Mass originally occurred to Giuseppe Verdi upon the death of the composer Rossini in 1868, and he even went as far as to complete the sketch, but eventually became the "Libera Me." But not until the subsequent death
in 1873 of one of his greatest idols, the Italian writer Alex-sandro Manzoni did Verdi finish
the full work.

The first performance of the Requiem was conducted by the composer himself on May 22, 1874 (the first anniversary of Manzoni's death), and was received with great acclaim; not only were there four hundred audience members, but Verdi
"a silver crown on an elegant cushion."

Nevertheless, even at the time of its premiere and for years afterwards, it was allotted as being either theatrical,
operatic, unreligious, bombas-

tic, insensitive and a tragic misconception of the purpose and function of the requiem mass
or a combination of them
all. Both "theatrical" and "dramatic" is certainly it, for Verdi was both a man of and a composer for the theatre, and one can scarcely conceive of the composer, who had finished
"Aida" only three years earlier of writing so personal an expression of grief in any other or fashion (The Requiem's second, third and fourth performances, incidentally, took place appropriately enough at Milan's La Scala.) But perhaps the best answer was given by the Viennese critic Eduard Hanslick, who noted: "Religious devotion, too, varies in its expression, it has its countries and its times. What may appear passionate and sensual to the Verdi's Requiem is derived from the emotional habits of his people, and the Italian has the perfect right to inquire whether he may not talk to the dear Lord in the Italian language!"

Absolute Control. Eugene Ormandy's performance was broad and introspective, with years in the Army during the Korean War. He accepted the Princeton position in 1960 after five years with the Aluminum Company of America.

David R. Ballinger of 431 Terhune Road, assistant commercial manager, Princeton, has been transferred to the Trenton office of Public Service Electric and Gas Company as assistant commercial manager James L. Salinger of Menlo Park has been promoted from managerial assistant in the company's New Brunswick office to assistant commercial manager in Princeton.

Mr. Ballinger started with Public Service in 1939 as an elevator operator, and advanced to customer accounts clerk before entering the Army for four years in 1941. In 1951, he was selected for the company's commercial education course, which he completed two years later. He worked in the Burlington office as a managerial assistant before coming to Princeton in 1961.

Mr. Salinger entered the company's cadet course in 1956 after graduating from Rutgers University. Upon completion of the course, he was assigned as a commercial assistant in the general office at Newark. He was promoted to his position at the New Brunswick office in 1960.

TRANSFERRED BY PUBLIC SERVICE: David R. Ballinger (left) of 431 Terhune Road and James L. Salinger of Menlo Park have been transferred to new offices by Public Service Electric and Gas Company. Mr. Ballinger will move from the Princeton to the Trenton office, and Mr. Salinger from the New Brunswick to Princeton.

moderation as its principal virtue. Mr. Ormandy refrained from unduly excessive instructions and was content to let the drama inherent in the score speak for itself. His control was absolute, his pacing deliberate, and although he could call forth the necessary excitement from his mass of forces when necessary, he did not insist on maintaining the state of continual frenzy common with some conductors.

The augmented Festival Symphony played nobly, and Warren Martin again prepared a first-rate chorus composed of both regular Westminster Choir members and returning alumni. Mr. Ormandy, who had to compete with only the usual planes overhead but also a general fire alarm in the closing measures of the opening "requiem" section, later indulged in a bit of theatrics himself, employing actual off-stage trumpets as a Bellini to obtain a striking antiphonal effect in the fanfares of the "tuba mirum."

The four soloists achieved varying degrees of success, with the distaff side easily taking the honors for the evening. Lili Chookasian was nothing short of magnificent, and as compelling to watch as to hear. She sang with great feeling, rich tone, flawless pitch and sensitive phrasing—in short, as fine a handling of the contralto solo as we have ever heard. Miss Chookasian's "hber scriptus" was particularly moving.

There are precious few sopranos who can handle the singing soprano part as beautifully as does Janice Harsanyi, and even if she was not at the peak of her vocal artistry on Friday her performance was nevertheless as exciting and dramatic as always. Although Mrs. Harsanyi's voice sounded tired in the first half, she seemed to find a "second wind" following intermission, and her "Libera Me" was quite stunning.

It is sadder news to report that on Friday, at least, both tenor Nicholas Di Virgilio and bass John Macurdy were disappointing. Mr. Di Virgilio's voice can have its unpleasant moments, and takes on an increasingly harsh, nasal quality when he does not restrain the tendency to shout. Both he and Mr. Macurdy had their sporadic difficulties with pitch, and the latter was also guilty of some sloppy attacks, including a noticeable amount of swooping and sliding to pitches that were often unsteady enough to begin with.

NEW TEENS IN TOWN

Vocalizing. Probably. Young choirsters from 20 states have converged on Westminster Choir College to exercise their vocal muscles in a Vocal Camp, scheduled to run through July 25. It began this Monday.

During the camp sessions, 270 boys and girls of high school age will study choral conducting, choral singing, voice and eurythmics with members of the Westminster faculty and guest conductors.

James C. McKeever, professor of voice and director of church relations, is serving as director for the fourth year. Faculty members and assisting guest are Lillian Hodapp, Rosemary Russell, Robert Simpson, Herbert Pale and Sylvia Ross. Mrs. Helen Kennedy, dean of girls, is assisted by Mrs. Richard LeForge, the Misses Linda Ison, Mona Hyden and Cheryl Pepper. Mr. LeForge, of Princeton Seminary, is dean of boys, assisted by James Heard, Gary Nair and Frank Wilburn. The Camp will conclude with a public concert presenting among other works studied by the singers, Bach's cantata, "Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death."

NEW SPRINGDALE PRO:
Al Niederlitz, Harry Kinnell's
assistant at Springdale Golf Club, has been named as his successor when he retires.

SPORTS In Princeton

NIEDERLITZ NAMED PRO

At Springdale, The retirement of Harry Kinnell as professional at the Springdale Golf Club and the appointment of Al Niederlitz to replace him was announced this week.

Kinnell, rounding out nearly two decades of service, will continue in his present capacity until the end of the year. James A. Love, club president, said, "To mark his 'long and distinguished' career at Springdale, the Board of Governors has named him 'Professional Emeritus' and made him an honorary member. Kinnell will continue to serve as coach of the Princeton University golf team, which in 1961 won the eastern intercollegiate championship.

Al Niederlitz, Kinnell's successor, has been first assistant pro at Springdale since the start of last year. A graduate of Ohio State in 1958, Al played number three man on the team led by Jack Nicklaus.

Following graduation, Al spent two years on the West Coast and then returned as an assistant pro for two years at the Scioto Country Club in Columbus before coming to Springdale.

Married and the father of two, Alan Jr., 2½, and Krista, 1, Al lives at 263 Harrison Street. At Springdale he has been particularly successful in teaching junior golfers.

First assistant to Niederlitz will be Pete Consoli, who has been at Springdale for 10 years.

TIGERS IN OLYMPICS

Crew Aims for Tokyo. Reports last week that it had withdrawn from Olympic competition were unfounded, and Princeton's varsity crew is taking part this week in the trials to select the eight-oared shell which will represent the United States in Tokyo next fall.

The Tigers bounced back from a disappointing May to finish fourth in the national regatta at Syracuse last month. "The boys were hardly out of the water there when they agreed unanimously that they wanted to go into the Olympic trials," Dutch Stroh said. "We had planned that if we reached the finals at Syracuse, we'd go on to the nationals and the fourth-place finish cinched it."

The trials are being held from Wednesday through Saturday this week over a 2,000-meter course on the Orchard Beach Lagoon in the Bronx. The event is being staged there in conjunction with the New York World's Fair.

Four crews have been seeded. Top favorites are California, winner of the national regatta, and Harvard, unbeaten in the East and victor over Yale in their four-mile race by nearly five lengths. Others seeded are the Washington Jayvees, who won their division at Syracuse, and the Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia. The latter is composed of former Yale and Cornell oarsmen, and is ranked as the best of eight club crews competing.

and "dialed" twice as fast?

The new Touch-Tone phone is now available to customers whose telephone numbers begin with 452, 799, 921, and 924.*

Touch-Tone service has been described as the biggest advance in telephones since the dial. It applies the speed of electronics to the placing of a call. With the new Touch-Tone phone, "dialing" time is cut in half. You simply tap buttons. When you do, musical notes trigger electronic impulses that speed your connection.

The result? A quicker-to-use phone. The cost? Surprisingly low. Just add $1.50 per month to your regular monthly charges, plus a one-time connection charge, for Touch-Tone service on your residence line—including Touch-Tone service on all extensions.

You can have this easier-to-use telephone installed in your home right now. It is available in a wide selection of colors and styles, including a newly designed, streamlined wall phone. To order your new Touch-Tone phones, just call the Telephone Business Office.

New Jersey Bell

*To make the Touch-Tone phone available to everyone in New Jersey, complex central office equipment will be installed gradually throughout the state. Completing this statewide installation will require a few years.

JACK SWEENEY
Springdale Golfer

for his seventh birdie!)
"John Chubert and I started to laugh. But when I saw the 17th tee with two pairs for a 63, I began to wonder when I was going to blow up."

Jack Sweeney, who learned his golf as a caddy at Springdale, never came close to blowing up—despite the pressure and the 50-degree heat. He got his two pairs and the 45 stands
as the new course record
for Springdale since it was slightly rebuilt two years ago.

The round he shot — 33
on the outgoing nine and 32 coming back is all the more amazing because the 41-year old native Princep-toner is a hand-icapped player whose best previous round was 72. To top it off, he bagged three of the first four holes and said to himself, "It looks like a normal
day. I'm three over par already."

Five holes later, his golf
was anything but normal.
Sweeney had hinded the fifth through the ninth for a 33.

Another birdie on the

from tee to green. Birdies followed on the 13th, 14th,
and 16th, with the latter almost an eagle two when Sweeney's wedge pitch just
barg on the lip of the cup.
"I thought I might blow
on the last two holes, which I don't always play well," he said. "But the par 4's came easily enough, and there I was with something you dream about."

The longest putt Sweeney made was about 25 feet; the shortest save for the lip-hanger on the 16th, about 3 ft. In all, he had only 21
putts. "It was a total total allotted by par for 18
holes."

How did Sweeney shoot

Saturday and Sunday," he said. "Right back to nor-plans for the third annual junior tennis tournament for boys and girls beginning Monday, July 20, at the University Courts.

There are divisions for both boys and girls 16 and under, 14 and under and 12 and under. There will also be a doubles event for both boys and girls.

A consolation tournament will be held in the singles matches for all first-round losers, insuring every player of at least two matches. William Humes, 168 Harrison Street, or Bernard Forcer, 573 Emel Avenue, Trenton, will provide entry blanks.

DEDE SHIPWAY CHAMPION
In YMCA Women's Tennis, Dede Shipway, like the New York Yankees, has little trouble repeating as champion year after year. This summer marked the fourth straight time Miss Shipway has won the YMCA's Women's championship, beating Mrs. Dorothy Katz, 7-5, 6-0.

Miss Shipway continually forced Mrs. Katz to use her backhand, and was able to sweep the second set, after a see-saw battle in the first. Eric G. Endersby, YMCA president, presented the awards.

TENNIS TAUTOLOGY: "Needless repetition" says the dictionary of "tautology," and that is how Mrs. Dorothy Katz (left) must feel toward Dede Shipway who defeated her Saturday for the women's singles crown in the tournament sponsored by the Princeton YMCA. Dede won, 7-5, 6-0. Two years ago, the same pair reached the finals with the same results. Eric G. Endersby, YMCA president, presents the awards. (Staff Photo)

Other contestants were Rosemary Russell, Ruth Reuser, Elaine Fox, Mrs. Anne Somers, Mrs. Samuel Pillsbury, Lillian Ashley, Mrs. Leon Lapides, Joan O'Donoghue, Mrs. Marshall Sittling and Prudy Kellogg.

The men's singles are now in progress with the mixed doubles tournament scheduled to begin Monday. Entries must be in by Friday to Bill Humes, tournament director, or the YMCA office.

TENNIS SQUADS MEET

With Ed Faulkner. Swarthmore College Coach Ed Faulkner has met with the Princeton and Trenton Gold Cup Squads at Cadwallader Park in Trenton to give them advanced instruction.

Faulkner spoke to the group and worked with individual students as the squads met in match play. The two groups will play in Princeton this Wednesday, and again in Trenton on July 29th.

Those participating from Princeton were: Erica Duppel, Susan Valentine, Elizabeth Rose, Mary Lapides, Isabelle Sloane, Dorey Oberman, Anne Brettnall, Debbie Endersby, Cindy Shoemaker, Elizabeth Hoffman, Karen Fitzpatrick, Mark O'Donoghue, Ken Klothen, Fred Baruch, Sam McCreery, John Valentine, Gerry Putnam, David Liederman, Harry Stokes, Rob Kraft and Chris Collins.

Faulkner will be in Princeton on Thursday to work further with the Gold Cup Squad and to conduct a clinic for all students in the Princeton Community Tennis Program from 10-11:30 at the University courts. If it rains the clinic will be held at Community Park school gym.

JUNIOR LEAGUE STARTS

In YMCA Baseball, The YMCA Junior Baseball League started last week with each team playing two games.

Last year's champion, Matthews, won both of its games, beating Nassau Oil, 6-1, and annihilating Bowers, 27-4. Water Company was its first game by defeating Bowers, 8-5, but dropped its second encounter to Nassau Oil, 5-3.

The July 4th all-league game saw Matthews and Bowers, and Nassau Oil and the Water Company play to a 2-2 tie. Remaining games this week are, Nassau Oil vs. Matthews on Thursday and Water Company vs. Bowers on Friday.

The standings:

| | W. | L. | Pts. |
|---------------|----|----|------|
| Matthews | 2 | 0 | 10 |
| Water Company | 2 | 2 | 6 |
| Nassau Oil | 1 | 1 | 6 |

YANKEES SIGN PLAYER

On Seton Hall Ballteam, John Monteleone, Seton Hall's captain and third baseman has signed with the New York Yankees for an undisclosed bonus. Monteleone is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Monteleone of the Hopewell-Pennington Road, Hopewell.

Monteleone, the third Seton Hall player to sign with a big league club this year, was assigned to the Columbus club of the AA Southern League. He was signed by scout Frank O'Tourke of Elizabeth.

A star third baseman with Pennington High, Monteleone was selected on the Newark News' All-State team in 1960. A three-letter man at Seton Hall, he was the all-East goalie in soccer last fall and captain.

By JOHN F. BERNARD

Have you ever wondered how "proof" became identified with liquor? In the dim past a small quantity of straight whiskey was poured over gun powder and lighted. If it flamed brightly, it was thought to be too strong. If it burned steadily with a blue flame, it was considered to be 100 per cent right—the flame being the proof that it was 100 per cent alcohol.

The same proportions are accepted today—proof indicating twice the amount of pure alcohol.

Yes, the proof is in the balance . . . and this is especially true of insurance . . . where the coverage is balanced by the cost. It is pretty simple to experts like STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD, 15 Chambers Street, but, pretty complicated to the layman . . . particularly when he dabbles in miscellaneous coverages himself. Call 921-6890 for safe counseling. "Always Remember Fair Claim Settlement is Our Most Important Product."

CHECK PRESENTED

By Wally Ryan Caravanners, The Wall Ryan Caravan Club has presented a check for almost $1,900 to the Princeton Pastors' Association to create a scholarship whereby a graduate student at Princeton Theological Seminary would serve as a part-time chaplain at Princeton Hospital.

Presented to the Rev. Robert R. Spears Jr., president of the association, the money will sustain a chaplain at the hospital for the needs of the unchurched, and those patients who live too far away to be visited by their own ministers. The caravanners always make a presentation of their church collection to the ministers of the community they visit.

The Delaware and Baltimore Conferences, formerly part of the Central Negro Jurisdiction, were also voted in.

HEART FUND TOPS GOAL
Up 30% from Last Year. The 1964 Heart Fund Drive in Princeton was an overwhelming success. This is the opinion of Mrs. Chloé C. Bennett, chairman of the drive who also reported that "this year, $10,000 was raised in Princeton, and this marks a 38% increase over the 1963 total of $7,200."
The response of Princeton residents to our efforts has been tremendous. Mrs. Bennett continued, "it is particularly gratifying to all of us who worked on the campaign."

Results of the Princeton drive were made public at the annual meeting of the Mercer County Heart Association. A nother indication of the success of the Princeton campaign was given by Dr. Aaron J. Heison, president of the Mercer County Association.

Said Dr. Heison: "Mercer County showed the largest increase in New Jersey during this year's drive. And the Princeton campaign was the most successful one in Mercer County."

Awards for outstanding service were presented to the leaders of the Princeton drive. Recipients were Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Theodore J. Tams Jr., chairman of volunteers, and Mrs. Arno J. Mayer, director of public relations and information.

MARINER SCOUTS RETURN

From Mystic Square, Ten Mariner Scouts from Princeton have returned from 10 days of nautical life at Mystic Seaport, Conn. All are members of Senior Troop 15, Mercer Girl Scout Council.

With other Mariner scouts from New York and Massachusetts, the Princeton girls lived on two Danish-built sailing vessels, the "Joseph Conrad" and the "Guedel." During their visit, they sailed and raced dinghies in Mystic Harbor.

The crew of Betsy Fisher, Kitty McCusker and Ellen Spinner won the award for the cleanest boat.

PROGRAM SCHEDULED

For Disadvantaged Girls. Thirty girls from the Trenton-Princeton area who are out of school, out of work and ill-prepared for employment will be given 40 weeks of training, combining education with work experience. The program, scheduled to begin Monday, is designed to train disadvantaged girls in basic office skills.

The girls will learn about personal grooming, good work habits and effective speech in class, and then serve as tourist guides at the State House complex and in the Labor and Industry building. The long range goal of the program is to prepare the girls for general clerical or reception jobs in offices.

Applicants must be between the ages of 16 and 21. Dropouts who apply must have been out of school at least a year or have the permission of school authorities for their enrollment. Trainees who meet the employment service definition of "disadvantaged girls" may be eligible for a weekly training allowance of $20.

HEART GROUP AGREES

Joins Anti-Smoking Stand. The New Jersey Heart Association has joined with other health agencies in taking an official stand against smoking. Its board has adopted a resolution stating that "it approves in principle with the resolution of the American Heart Association."

Evidence of harmful effects was presented in a report by an Ad Hoc Committee on Smoking and Heart Disease of the American Heart Association in 1960, buttressed by additional statistical verification in 1963. Board action by the New Jersey Heart Association followed a report by Dr. Victor J. Ruly, director of City, who chaired a panel discussion on smoking at the state organization's convention.

ELECTRIC LIVING GUIDE

All rights reserved. R. P. Maull & Son, Inc., New York.

IN THE CHIPS

Electrically-Heated Home Colled Good Investment

"Your blue chip investment" is how a new home rates in our economy . . . says a money-management professional.

"And . . . if that new home is electrically heated . . . that's like more money in the bank since electricity is considered to be the 'fuel of tomorrow,' meaning your heating system isn't going to go out of style and need replacement by you . . . if it remains your own home for years, or longer the retail value at sale timely out-of-dateness."

Remember, too, that no matter what you choose to spend on a house today . . . the value will keep rising.

A similar sentiment was voiced in a speech by a builder's representative . . . who states that though building costs indeed do rise each year, the percentages show that the cost of housing has risen considerably less than other commodities.

So if you're thinking about how dreamy a new, brand new house would be . . . but feel guilty about such an extravagance, think again. The experts are with you . . . you can have your dream house . . . and a first-rate, blue chip investment too. . . .

DECORATING: HER IDEAS VERSUS HIS

Drab or subdued?

A recent survey said that if men did the decorating at home . . . the homes of America would be drab . . . with dark colors and neutral colors predominating. Women, includes the Sample, really have the touch for color . . . the survey, however does not say how many questioned were men, how many women.

One point in the women's favor, however, color or no color, is they decorate with an eye to surfaces that are easy to keep clean.

Another study, however, comes to the aid and comfort of the males. Men it says, understand equipment suitability much better.

"Now you're getting somewhere," says a local expert on Electrical home heating systems, "Electrical heating is something they can both agree on. He'll know he's getting the best possible heating equipment buy . . . and she'll get a house so well-built it certainly will be easy to keep clean. Another thing, she's getting a house she systems simply do not use up valuable room space."

Among the home equipment and decorating ideas couples are said usually to agree on are:

- extra bathrooms
- basement recreation areas
- patios
- small, as well as major, kitchen and bar appliances.

Among the families who already have complete electrical home heating, the agreement seems to be unanimous. Never again would they want to go back to any of these, "old fashioned" heating methods.

UP-DATE... ANTIQUE HEATING NOW!

This elegant relic reminds us of bygone days. Be elegant, better your days ahead with total electric home
heating.

QUESTION BOX

Q. Is it true that brick is the best material to use for an electric house?

A. Never heard this contention before. It certainly can be brick . . . but it just as certainly can be anything else you want that your builder also Okays for your situation.

Perhaps you're confusing the total construction standards recommended for electrical houses. There was an attractive advertisement some months ago of a family in the hard-winter part of the country lauding their electrically-heated house which was brick . . . that however, did not mean that brick is by any means a "must." What is a "must," though, is quality insulation to assure full utilization of fuel.

Q. How many buildings in the country are now heated by electricity?

A. It's a little like that population count of people out at the World's Fair. It keeps moving upward every minute.

As of the end of 1963 there were 1.6 million electrically heated homes in the U.S. most of them having been built and/or equipped with electrical heating within the past three years.

There is also large commercial structure usage of total electrical heating systems . . . for apartment buildings, schools, factories, and motels.

Q. What is the current picture on basements versus basements for electrically heated houses?

Q. It's still a matter of preference. A quality performance from an electrical heating system is possible with either choice. Exact specifications have been drawn up for each type.

As of now, it seems to be a geographical matter. Four out of five new homes in the Northeast are being built with basements. Exactly the reverse is true in California.

Q. What kind of roof do you recommend for an electrical-ly heated house?

A. No particular limitations? Whatever your builder says and whatever your style house dictates. As we've said earlier, the electrical industry early determined that quality construction was the hallmark of efficient use of fuel. But other than quality in materials, there are no particular taboos.

If You Are Planning To Build, Buy or Remodel Call Any One Of The Contractors Listed Below. He'll Give You All The Facts On Total Electric Home Heating.

Phone any time about these or many other fine homes.

RIVERSIDE... here is a neighborhood of quiet street close to schools and the New York Express bus, which is notable for its fine modern homes. And among the most desirable is this beautiful residence of 4 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths. There is a living room with fireplace, a separate dining room, a family room, a welcome screened porch, and most enjoyable of all during these Summer months, a lovely garden that is a joy to behold and a pleasure to invite your guests to share with you. $42,500

IMMEDIATE OCCUPANCY... on a wooded plot with a view of the Lake, this commodious home has a big living room with a bay window and fireplace, separate dining room, large kitchen, recreation room nearby, maid's room, 2-car garage, laundry and (upstairs) 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. The bedrooms are large, with spacious closets, for this dwelling was built by Buchanan and his homes are notable for wonderful closets — as well as for meticulous construction. And now that summer has come to Princeton, the 40-foot Sylvan Pool, with its clear water and a quiet yard for sun-bathing, makes this fine residence one of our town's most appealing properties. $55,500

RENTAL... completely air-conditioned. In one of Princeton's wooded areas, 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. $275 per month.

3 BEAUTIFUL ACRES... here is blessed seclusion in your own woods, yet this charming place is only minutes from town and, for the commuter, merely a pleasant jaunt for the family taxi service. Entry hall, living room with fireplace, separate dining room paneled in pine, a huge (20 x 30) pine-paneled room for the grand piano, 3 bedrooms, bath and powder room. This exquisite little place, on what is, perhaps, Princeton's most famous road, should be seen before you decide that you have seen everything. $42,500

WESTERN SECTION... on two beautiful acres off the main highway. And now that the splendor of its shade trees arching over this lovely home provides the perfect background for the formal landscaping of laurel, rhododendrons and andromeda, you will see why this is, perhaps, our favorite dwelling. 3 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, a beautiful family room which could be another bedroom. Use of swimming pool and tennis courts. However, none of these facts can convey the aura of their beauty that makes this home so precious. $66,500

Point of Order
FOUND: A WATCH and RING, loosely and claim by calling 924-1033

Classify your classifieds, readers occasionally tell TOWN TOPICS, or they are not really classified. They have a point - but the owner
of this watch and ring has them back because TOWN TOPICS doesn't.

He was reading through last week's issue looking for a summer job, never thinking that anyone might have found the watch and ring
he was sure he had lost irretrievably. When he saw the FOUND ad, he quit job-hunting long enough to make a quick telephone call
and identify his watch and ring.

It cost him $1.25 to recover his missing jewelry,
the price of a 20-word ad in the paper that tops all others in Princeton in results. To try one, just call 924-2200.
